I am not a Minecraft addict, but I do enjoy playing that game. However, that is only because my friends and I play it together. Not because of the millions of dollars or diamonds you can get for free on Roblox. People are obsessed with Roblox; my Facebook account was filled with friends who played Minecraft as if they were addicted to crack. They would constantly post pictures about their new lifesize cardboard builds they worked on at home; taking ages-long breaks between each video to watch more videos of minecraft. We've all had friends who were that addicted to Roblox in our time, but I have never met one like Sinead who was "deeply miserable" because she was deprived of playing it. That was always the case whenever anyone mentioned it, I'm sure; parents would frequently ask me if and how I managed to get my grades, and teachers would always ask me if we had any homework. Sometimes they'd even assign us essays to write about our time on Roblox; even though a few months before everyone stopped doing them unless they were mandatory.

The company itself has not ever made such uses of VR technology but have given their developers access to the SDK in order to promote VR technology. The company is planning on releasing an SDK for Sony's Project Morpheus and Oculus Rift at some point in the future, although no dates have been officially announced. However, ROBLOX has been criticized due to their unusual (less than the minimum) end user license agreement. Roblox has released a new version of its app called Ava (ROBLOX's Mobile Application). See above section for more details.

I personally think that the vast majority of Roblox games are for children. There is only a few games that are suitable for adults which were developed in recent years, but there are also a large number of games that have been around for years, and it is still very popular. I don't think there is anyone who has played this game since they were a child, so it's not like people will stop playing because they're unhappy with the newer games.
